Originally from Brazil, I have been living in Sydney since February 2020. I have taken an English course for almost two years, after it a next step was taken and I have enrolled in a Web Development VET course at ACBI College in January 2022.

My first contact with front-end development was in the latter of 2013 when I first met the CMS WordPress. Since then, I have been doing some freelance jobs and personal projects, such as building WordPress themes or working in volunteer projects.

My goal in IT career is to become a front-end master developer, fluent in CSS, HTML, PHP and JavaScript, understanding all nuances of web-development and its needs. Specifically, become a WordPress developer able to develop sophisticated plugins and themes.

Thank you for your consideration, and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

John Pereira
